Luxury on European level

Europejski, formerly known as Hotel Europejski in Warsaw, will be the topic of the upcoming edition of the Builder Exclusive. Readers will find a number of excellent photos and articles describing the restoration of this pearl of the Poland's XIX century architecture. The publisher will broadly present the process, starting from the architectural concept to the finishing of details.

Europejski is one of the most prestigious and iconic buildings in Warsaw. It was built in 1857 according to the design of Henryk Marconi, an excellent Polish architect of Italian descent. Overlooking the Royal Route, it has been a silent witness to the history and changes to the capital city of Poland for over 160 years. Since it opened its doors to guests and Warsaw residents for the first time, this magnificent Neo-Renaissance building and its unique surroundings as well as its charming atmosphere have been attracting businessmen, artists and intellectuals from all around the world. Hotel Europejski, basing on the best hotel models in Western Europe, introduced them to Poland and interpreted them through the prism of local traditions and culture. Due to this legacy, for years the hotel was known as the most representative in Poland.

Europejski represents great, unique history, exceptional architecture and a great investment project. We have added a timeless interior design to this mix, meant to make every guest fall in love with its legend. We are convinced that our cooperation with Builder Exclusive will be an opportunity for us to tell the story – says Julien Barbotin-Larrieu, President of the Management Board of H.E.S.A. Sp. z o.o. Sp. K., the company being the owner of the building and investor behind the project.

Numerous excellent experts worked on the building, including SUD Architekt Polska, WWAA, APA Wojciechowski and Lázaro Rosa-Violán studios. Today, Europejski is not only a hotel with 106 rooms and suites in five-star plus standard, but also an office space, as a part of the Europejski Office, and a boutique area. There will also be facilities such as the conference centre, Spa, restaurant, patisserie, Long Bar, ballroom and even a humidor. Warsaw residents and guests will be able not only to rest and work here, but also enjoy the offer of selected boutiques and admire works of the Europejski Art Collection – one of the largest private collection of contemporary art in Poland of Polish Artist.

– We are very happy to cooperate with Europejski. We are also glad that the publishing works have already started. I am convinced that in our upcoming publication we convey you together with the investor, architects and contractors – the exciting story of the restoration of this unique Warsaw's architectural icon. The story will be additionally illustrated with beautiful pictures authored by best Polish photographers – says Michał Grocki, Managing Editor, the Builder Exclusive.

Unlike previous editions, this time Builder Exclusive will be published in two languages – Polish and English. The title will be distributed free of charge in Poland and abroad.
